Certified Pediatric Nurse Practitioner

We are excited to announce that Dr. Sanjeev Gupta will be joining our Palmer Pediatrics family this fall. Along with Dr. Verma and Toni, Dr. Gupta will be a great addition to our team in providing care for your children.

Dr. Gupta was born and raised in the Lehigh Valley, where he attended Moravian Academy. During his senior year he volunteered at Palmer Pediatrics, and it was here that his interest in pediatrics first began. He attended New York University, followed by St. George's University School of Medicine. He completed his residency in Pediatrics at Albany Medical Center in 2017, after which Dr. Gupta completed a fellowship in Pediatric Cardiology at the Mount Sinai School of Medicine, where he served as chief fellow in 2020. Since that time he has been a pediatric cardiologist at Joseph M. Sanzari Children's Hospital, where he was an Assistant Professor in the Department of Pediatrics at Hackensack Meridian School of Medicine.

After having a daughter of his own, Dr. Gupta began to appreciate the special role a community pediatrician plays in the lives of the families he serves: celebrating the milestones, alleviating some stress during the tougher times, all the while developing a bond with the entire family unit.

We pride ourselves on being one of the few private practices in the Lehigh Valley. One major benefit of a private practice is the personal and individualized care you receive. We get to know and love your family as our own. After hours, we can always be reached to guide your next steps and ensure you receive the best care, from providers you know and trust.

As always, if you are expecting a child, please inform the hospital care team that Dr. Verma's office will be caring for your child after birth. Our office will be notified and we will visit you and your new baby in the hospital (St. Luke's Anderson).

We look forward to Dr. Gupta joining our team, as he returns full circle, to where he first realized how special a career in pediatric care can be.
